Jurisdictional Inspections Provided by Hartford Steam Boiler Inspection & Insurance Co.

What are Jurisdictional Inspections?

To ensure public safety, most states and many local governments require that boilers or pressure vessels be inspected by commissioned inspectors. These inspectors can work for the state or an insurance company providing equipment breakdown coverage for these exposures. HSB will provide these required inspection services free of charge as part of your insurance policy.

How do I know if I need an inspection?

Look near your equipment to determine if an existing certificate is in place. Check the date to see if it is current. If not - you may need an inspection to update your certificate.

Otherwise....
